Adlai Stevenson 1st Volunteered To Go to Paris

Made Offer to Ike's Administration to Be Cold War 'Missionary'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson offered to go to Paris last month as advance "missionary" spreading the idea of a new American cold war strategy, it was learned today.

The Eisenhower administration ignored his offer, according to this information, and took him instead as Democratic consultant in the drafting of plans for strengthening the 15-nation North Atlantic Alliance.

Stevenson was represented as feeling now that American planning had not advanced far enough last month to make his missionary effort feasible at that time. But he is said to believe the plans will be ready for presentation to a NATO conference Dec. 16 in Paris.

Stevenson was invited by President Eisenhower last Tuesday to accompany the American delegation to the Paris meeting of NATO heads of government. He declined. He said his presence there would serve no useful purpose, that his job as consultant began and ended in Washington.

Stevenson was reported to have urged the administration to include in its NATO proposals a sweeping new concept of aid to underdeveloped countries. It would involve a kind of Marshall Plan of no-strings, nonmilitary aid, almost exclusively in the form of long-term loans for economic development, from the Western "have" nations to the "have-not" nations of Asia and Africa.

The former Illinois governor, defeated by Eisenhower in the 1952 and 1956 presidential elections, was said to be very pessimistic about the Paris meeting. This view apparently is shared by some other Democrats.

Stevenson was said to be particularly unhappy over prospects that Eisenhower, recuperating from a mild stroke and under doctors' care, might not be able to attend the Paris session. He compares holding a Western summit conference without Eisenhower to having a wedding without the bride.

It was learned that Stevenson proposed in a memo to Secretary

Jury Dismissed In Canton Murder Trial

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Downcast because a jury from whom they expected acquittal could not agree, Alfred Calabrese, 37, of Cleveland and Paul Perotti, 32, of Chardon, remained in jail today awaiting a prosecution move to try them again on first degree murder charges.

They are accused in the holdup slaying of Eldon Shoup, 25, of Alliance, Feb. 7.

Thursday night, after four hours of deliberation and six deadlocked ballots, a jury of eight men and four women was discharged by Common Pleas Judge George N. Graham. They told the judge all but one of them felt they could never agree.

Earl G. Gayhart of Canton, jury foreman, said the deadlock was hopeless. And one juror, Mrs. Estelle R. Tuzzio of Canton, disclosed that the split was seven for acquittal to five for conviction. "This case definitely will be tried over. That is all I can say," commented Prosecutor Norman J. Putman.

The nine-day trial, including seven days of testimony, ended late Thursday afternoon. The jury discussed the case for nearly two hours, went to dinner then argued for two hours more before giving up.

Judge Graham felt there was Committee Secretary John J. Murphy, of the Bricklayers Union, began reading the 14-page report to the AFL-CIO convention shortly after 10 a. m.

2 Candidates Forfeit Offices

Fail to File Report On Campaign Expenses

Two men elected to village and school board posts in southwestern Columbiana County Nov. 5 technically will be unable to qualify for office Jan. 1 because they failed to file reports of their campaign expenses with the county election board before the deadline Thursday at 4 p. m.

They are Paul Dowdell, who was elected to Summitville village council, and Robert H. Meiser, named to the board of education of the Franklin Local School District.

Law forbids the election board to issue certificates of election to successful candidates who fail to report on their campaign expenditures.

"Their only hope is to mandamus us and obtain a court order requiring us to issue a certificate of election," Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, pointed out.

Eleven more non-winners who failed to report their campaign expenses will be barred from running for public office again for five years under a recently-effective state law.

Non-winners who did not report and the offices they sought are: Charles Davis, council in East Liverpool; Lloyd Shaw, for trustee, and Arthur Shasten, for constable, both in St. Clair Township; Frank Cuffaro, council in Wellsville; Frank Citino, mayor in Leetonia; James Kelvington, council in East Palestine; Anna M. Shive.

'Moon' Remains On Ground After Device Explodes

Second Test Is Not Expected Until At Least 30 Days

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The rocket for America's first satellite launching attempt failed at 11:46 a. m. (EST) today.

There was a big flash of smoke and nothing left the ground. Apparently it blew up.

There was a tremendous blast of flame and then smoke shot up. No missile was seen to take off.

Observers from the beach were puzzled and dismayed at the sight.

The launching attempt took place before noon in bright sunshine, with only thinly flecked clouds in the sky.

In Washington the Defense Department said the launching vehicle exploded on its stand.

The department said there were no casualties.

Operation Vanguard headquarters at the naval research laboratory in Washington added that all personnel are OK.

The announcement came out at the Pentagon and at Vanguard headquarters at 11:47 a. m., just two minutes after the launching effort in which the great three-stage rocket exploded.

Defense Department sources estimated it would be about 30 days before another launching attempt could be made.

The one big belch of smoke that shot up skyward cleared away within two or three minutes.

From the beach it could not be determined whether the launching stand or adjacent missiles had been damaged.

The intent was to hurl a small aluminum ball 300 miles or more into space and set it spinning around the world.

Fall Is Fatal To Salem Man

New Castle Mishap Kills Ernest McGhee

A 42-year-old RD 4, Salem, man died this morning in a New Castle, Pa. hospital from injuries received Thursday when he hurtled downward 20 feet while at work on a construction project at West Pittsburgh near New Castle.

Ernest McGhee, 42, of RD 4, Salem, manager of the Circle J Ranch for the past year, died at 9:30 a. m. today at the New Castle Hospital where he was being treated for a fractured skull and severe scalp lacerations.

Mr. McGhee, an iron worker for the Foundation Co., was busy on a grating job for a floor at the site of the several million dollar construction project of the Pennsylvania Power Co. in West Pittsburgh when the accident occurred at 11:55 a. m. Thursday.

He stumbled to the next floor level 20 feet below after he lost his footing and slipped on the grating. As he fell, his body dealt a glancing blow to his son, Curtis, 20, who was working on a lower level of the 13-story building.

Curtis did not fall but was injured by the contact with his father. He is being treated for multiple confusions and bruises of the body at the New Castle Hospital where his condition is listed as good.

Mr. McGhee's body is being returned here for funeral services.

City Refuse Collection System Recommended

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second in a series of articles explaining six of the major recommendations made in the Comprehensive Master Plan which is intended to govern Salem's future growth. The Michael Baker Engineers of Rochester, Pa., recently completed the plan and left it in the hands of City Council and the Planning Commission for future action.)

"The city of Salem should organize a municipal program of collection and disposal of garbage and refuse to replace the present system which is handled by private haulers on permits from the city."

This recommendation is included in the Comprehensive Master Plan recently drafted by the Michael Baker Engineers of Rochester, Pa.

City Council and members of the Planning Commission received the plan in booklet form last week and are studying the measure prior to its discussion the first week of January.

Nation Trying To Secure Part Of New Guinea

Government Workers Taking Over Control Of Holland Firms

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesia began expelling Dutch subjects today in its hard-fisted campaign to win West New Guinea. At the same time reports poured in that Indonesian employees throughout this island republic were seizing Dutch business enterprises.

Information Minister Sudibjo said the Dutch Embassy has been told to begin evacuation of Dutch residents at once and about 100 employees of KLM Airline and their families—were the first to get their order.

Justice Minister Gustaaf Mangekom said the immediate get-out order meant "within three days, if I had my way, but that is impossible."

One source said there are 46,000 Dutch nationals here and that all would be expelled except skilled technicians. About two-thirds of those marked to leave are Eurasians who were born here and have lived here all their lives.

All will have to leave most of their property here. Dutch financial interests here are estimated to be worth a billion dollars.

The expulsion order was announced as the Indonesians heaped pressure on the Netherlands to yield east New Guinea the half-island which the Dutch government retained after granting independence to the rest of these East Indies in 1949.

Reports poured into Jakarta from all parts of the far-flung islands of a snowballing movement by workers seizing Dutch owned banks, hotels, plantations, factories, clubs and businesses.

Information Minister Sudibjo made these other pronouncements:

The government will take over these seized businesses from the workers. Whether this will amount to nationalization will be determined later — after the New Guinea dispute is settled.

Indonesia has ordered the evacuation of its 5,000 nationals—mostly students, cooks and shopkeepers—from the Netherlands.

A break in Indonesian-Netherlands diplomatic relations is "only a matter of time."

All Dutch-Indonesian trade relations will be cut off immediately, and Indonesia will shift its business and trade agencies from the Netherlands, formerly the center of Indonesian commercial activity abroad.

Essential Dutch employees keep on the payroll of government run Dutch firms will be subject to "state of war and siege regulations" if they refuse to work. Violators of these regulations are subject to imprisonment.

Thousands of Dutch besieged their embassy in Jakarta today in an effort to find out their future. Rumors flashed through the Indonesian capital.

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Fairy wizards mistakenly christen the new born prince of Mittenpoo three times with Strength but not at all with Courage and Wisdom. The cowardly prince grows up a disgrace to his father. He decides to seek Santa Claus and ask him to give him Courage and Wisdom.

(Chapter Three)

RICHARD AND THE CIRCUS

It was late at night when the prince slipped out of his bed. When he had dressed he wrote a letter to the king.

"Dear Father," he wrote. "I know I make you angry because I am no' very bright and I am a coward, people say. So I am going away and I won't come back until I can be a good prince, wise and brave, the way you want me to be."

When he had finished the letter he climbed out the window and dropped to the ground. It was a very big drop but the prince was so strong and agile it didn't bother him at all.

WHAT DID BOTHER HIM was the dark. He was so afraid of it that when he had gone only a little way he stopped and crouched under a bush. There he waited, shivering with fright until daylight.

When at last the sun was up he set out again. But he was still very frightened because he had never before been beyond the palace grounds.

"How shall I ever find Santa Claus?" he wondered as he walked through the town. "I don't even know his address."

Presently he saw a shopkeeper sweeping the sidewalk in front of his shop.

"Pardon me," said Richard. "Can you tell me where Santa Claus lives?"

THE SHOPKEEPER looked at him in astonishment. "Are you joking me?" he asked suspiciously.

"Oh, no," protested Richard. "I want to see Santa but I don't know what street he lives on."

"Well, son," said the shopkeeper, "you sound daft to me but all the same I will tell you one thing. Santa Claus doesn't live on any street around here that I know of." "Where then?" persisted Richard.

"Boy, you have a job with this circus!"

"Well, somewhere up North, I guess. Around the North Pole, they say." Then the shopkeeper poked his broom at the boy. "Get going now. I'm tired of your nonsense."

Richard moved along until he came to a popcorn vendor.

"Pardon me," said Richard. "Can you tell me where the North Pole is?"

The vendor stared at him before he cried out, "Up North, you dolt. Where else?"

RICHARD WENT on until he came to a field where many men were struggling to raise a tent.

"Pardon me," said Richard to one of the workers. "Can you tell me where North is?"

"That way," said the worker, pointing in the direction of a fat man standing beside an enormous tent pole.

Richard went up to the fat man and asked, "Is that the North Pole?"

"Run along," snapped the man whose name was Mr. Maxim. "I've no time for jokes. This circus opens tonight and it will be hours yet before we can get this tent raised."

Richard thought perhaps Santa Claus was somewhere under the tent that the men were struggling to raise.

"May I look under the tent?" he asked politely.

"Oh, sure," said Mr. Maxim mockingly. "Just take this 100 foot pole, stick it under the canvas and raise it."

Richard picked up the pole as easily as though it had been a walking stick and pushed it under the canvas. He gave one heave and the whole tent was raised and in position.

Mr. Maxim and the other workers stared at Richard.

"BOY!" cried Mr. Maxim at last. "You have a job with this circus! We'll book you as the strongest boy in the world! We'll

But Richard was disappointed that Santa was not under the tent. "I'd like to help you," he said. "but I am travelling."

"Well, boy! We travel!" cried Mr. Maxim. "A circus travels all over the world."

"I want to go North," said Richard. "We go North," said Mr. Maxim. "We go everywhere!"

"Then," said Richard eagerly. "I'll be happy to stay with you until you get to the North Pole."

Skin Disease --- Psoriasis

Many correspondents write to me asking for a discussion of the skin disease called psoriasis.

Numerous studies of this curious disorder have appeared in the medical journals but it must be admitted that as yet the exact cause of psoriasis is not known and there is so far no sure cure. However, interest in its study has been speeded up by the formation of the Psoriasis Research Foundation, at 44 Page St., San Francisco, Calif.

Although the cause is not known, there are some suggestive clues. Sometimes, for example, several members of the same family can be afflicted, though it has not yet been traced as a definite hereditary disorder. It is also known that psoriasis is often associated with considerable frequency, though why this should occur is still obscure.

Psoriasis, because of its peculiar appearance, is a source of a good deal of worry to those who have it. But although one physician has written me concerning serious complications from the disease, it is generally considered relatively harmless so far as life and general health are concerned.

When psoriasis starts suddenly there is likely to be severe itching. In the more chronic cases (which are more frequent) there is little or no itching.

Those parts of the skin which have been involved for a long time generally become covered with a thick scale. When the scale is scraped off, tiny bleeding spots appear underneath.

Many treatments are being used for psoriasis. Most of them produce good results the first time they are tried, but too often the improvement turns out to be only temporary and when it is repeated the good results that happened the first time fail to materialize.

The remedies most often used by skin specialists for psoriasis include ointments containing coal tar, exposure to ultraviolet rays (psoriasis is usually better in the summer) and X-rays.

Almost every year, too, there is a report of some new and "better" treatment, but as yet there is none which has stood up and really does the job for everybody without any failures.

Some day the right treatment will come, but until it does, psoriasis will be discouraging to treat for patient and doctor alike. In the meantime most victims of psoriasis will encounter periods both of improvement and worsening.

The City's Comprehensive Plan

Some American cities—like Topsy—just grew. Others had the benefit of systematic planning and progressed in orderly fashion.

Salem, until the present time, has not had a master plan to guide it in proper zoning and planning and consequently, in a number of instances, has been thwarted by deficiencies and inadequacies and mistakes of the past.

This is pointed out in the Baker Engineers' Master Plan which has been turned over to members of City Council and the Planning Commission.

This is not uncommon for cities like Salem, whose histories date back many, many years.

The important thing is that our city officials and civic leaders are determined now to correct these deficiencies and use the Master Plan as a guide for orderly expansion and development in the future.

Salem is growing and will expand further in the years to come. The Master Plan survey is very comprehensive in its report and the recommendations of the firm of professional engineers will prove invaluable if the "blueprints" are followed. The report should not be allowed to gather dust on City Hall shelves but we do not believe city officials have any such intentions.

Council has indicated it will take time to study the report and will hold public hearings after zoning regulations have been enacted. This is wise and proper because public understanding is essential to make a program of zoning and planning workable.

Ample time, we believe, should be allowed for the public's consideration of a proposed zoning ordinance.

Council may even want to appoint a special committee to work with the Planning Commission for close liaison in the eventual administration of the Master Plan.

No over-night changes are going to result from the comprehensive plan but in the transition years that lie ahead Salem can benefit materially from the recommendations that have been made.

From Cheyenne to Points Everywhere

While the Sputniks whizz 'round and 'round, silent and doomed to fiery ruin, some of the new concepts of the rocket era they ushered in are taking shape.

Although these have figured in the thinking and planning of the new generation of rocketeers since the latter stages of World War II, when Germany was conducting its momentous experiments with long-range destruction at Britain's expense, they are new and strange to the still unversed public.

One of the concepts burst into the news with an announcement from the Pentagon that a site near Cheyenne, Wyo., had been selected for a rocket base. From this point, a long-range ballistic missile could be aimed at all key targets in the Soviet Union over the Arctic Circle.

From a comparable point in the Soviet Union, missiles could be fired at key targets in the United States. The earth-shrinking that began with the long-range bombing plane will reach a climax when rockets are developed that can reach remote targets in minutes, instead of hours.

Everything that has been devised to date to deter bombing attacks now has been made useless. It has become as urgent to learn how to make a rocket that can destroy another rocket as it has become to make a rocket that can reach a target. As is true of every new military weapon, the test of its value is the value of the counter-weapon—the shield against the spear, the armor-piercing missile against the battleship, the interceptor against the bombing plane.

This is where the next jolt to U.S. security may come from—a disclosure that the Soviet Union has stolen as long a march on an anti-missile missile as it was able to steal on development of a long-range missile. By the time this country has caught up to the first, it may have learned that it will have to catch up to the second, unless it can successfully develop both the new weapon and the new counter-weapon at the same time.

Step by Step in Little Rock

If the hopes of moderates are not too high, there will be no trouble in Little Rock when schools reopen after the Thanksgiving holiday. The federal troops will be gone. The Arkansas National Guard will remain, in federal duty status.

With a little luck—and a lot of forbearance by segregationists—Little Rock now can go back to the step-by-step plan of school integration drawn up by its school board in 1955. This has been lost sight of in the confusion loosed by the intervention of Gov. Faubus last August.

Under the step-by-step plan, senior high schools in Little Rock were to admit Negroes in 1957, junior high schools in 1960 and grade schools in 1963. The first step was halted when a group of white parents petitioned in a state court for an injunction to halt segregation. On the school board's appeal, a federal district court overruled the state court, whereupon Gov. Faubus made his historic move to order the Arkansas National Guard into action to maintain order at Central High School, which had the effect of keeping the nine Negro students assigned to attend the school from entering the building.

The state troops were withdrawn late in September after a federal court injunction against their use. The riots that followed caused the White House to federalize the Arkansas National Guard, then to send troops of the 101st Airborne Division to Little Rock to uphold the federal judiciary. It had been the stated intent of the federal government to withdraw as quickly as possible from Little Rock, meaning as rapidly as it could find assurance that its withdrawal would not be the signal for resumption of riots.

It remains to be seen whether the people who started the rioting last September have thought better of their interference with a plan which the Little Rock school board believed could be put into effect without undue excitement—a plan so gradual and so moderate it hardly could be called integration at all.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Opinions over whether cops should be assigned to New York schoolrooms are so varied that the city may have to settle for a truce with school toughies. It would be no surprise if some schoolhouse baddies rejected all peace terms with Judge Leibowitz, Superintendent Jansen and the police department, and agreed to cease fire only upon acceptance of the following demands:

- A—Abolition of spelling.
- B—Optional grammar.
- C—No arithmetic or history without a school referendum.
- D—Establishment of the two-day school week. No overtime, except in group dancing.
- E—The right to strike against exams.
- F—No cop within 10 blocks of any public school except by plebiscite.

THE TOUGHER KIDS our war correspondent informs us, have a big advantage over the police, should they be assigned to school since they almost always get off on a plea of the wrong breakfast cereal, depressing bedroom wallpaper, or lack of co-operation from parents in getting their own auto.

They plan a counteroffensive against the Leibowitz plan. If the schools bring in the cops the kids will bring in their psychiatrists. This will deadlock everything.

THE CORNER is first to get a line on what the police think of the situation. "We've got hazards enough without being assigned to some public schools as run today," declared one. "It's a job for the Marines."

HOLLYWOOD PORTRAYAL of famous people by actors in no way resembling them got swell treatment in Jack Benny sketch in which he was suddenly told his part in film of his own life to be played by somebody else. "But why can't I play it?" asked Jack. "You've been Jack Benny too long," was the answer.

U.S. wasn't first to get satellite into space, but it will be the first to get them there in a choice of colors.

John Roosevelt, youngest son of F.D.R., has taken a job in Wall Street brokerage house. As the youngest, he probably didn't hear all Daddy had to say against Wall Street.

Cocoa Beach, Fla., now area of missile tests, was for years one of most tranquil and unexciting places in America. People who wanted to 'get away from it all' picked home there!

Gov. Harriman of New York has named a committee of 100 citizens to help make traffic safer. This is 99 too many. Job calls for one fact-finding, resolute, straight-punching man possessing a high sense of indignation and a complete realization of fact too many people on too many committees are doing too many useless things in safety drives.

ROCKEFELLER CENTER again has the largest Christmas tree on earth, decorated with thousands of lights and miles of tinsel ropes.

It is a thing of rare beauty, radiating Yuletide and worth all the cost and effort. But in genuine warmth it runs second to the skimpy, undersized Christmas tree found in many a hovel.

Through millions of trees enroute to lots in slum districts will come a spiritual glow greater than can be sensed through the super-trees of great cities.

In a dozen battered ornaments on any fireside Christmas tree there is a spell not to be found in breathtaking ornaments. Hundreds of workers accomplish the Rockefeller Center wonder. But the hands of one weary mother work a greater miracle.

Hi—Was the great Christmas hymn, "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" written by an American?—P.K.K. A.—Yes. By a New England pastor, Edmund Hamilton Sears. It was written around 1849 for use in one of his church pageants. But not until 1853 when it was published in the Boston Christian Register was it heard outside the little country town of Mayland Mass.

Jersey Labor Troubles

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Stunning results, which caused little attention in the election a month ago, have prompted the New Jersey State CIO to take violent exception to the behavior of that state's Federation of Labor hierarchy.

The returns that flushed the cheeks of CIO chieftains in New Jersey were not those of the victorious Gov. Robert Meyner, who had not received the blessing of the AFL, but those that swept a long-standing Republican two-thirds majority from the state assembly and replaced it with a two-thirds Democratic majority.

Furthermore, in precinct after precinct, "labor's men" did well. Vast efforts in political action, successful in other parts of the country, bore fruit in New Jersey this past November.

And so, whereas the CIO and the AFL, two brawny opponents, had been quietly scuffling for two years over merger plans, after the election the CIO felt it had every reason to make known its grievances and felt confident that its political-action success justified its move.

THE CIO SHRIEKED its outrage from a convention in Atlantic City. The shocking noise carried up and down the Delaware, across the state, over the Jersey flats, and echoed along the Hudson Valley.

Denunciation of the AFL by the CIO sounded more like a blast from the ruling elite of a one-party state against "deviationists" than words tailored as friendly persuasion to bring the state's largest union organizations together.

The New Jersey State CIO enumerated the reasons why it had not been able to get together with the AFL. These included the following accusations against AFL "spokesmen":

They "have not shown good faith in these merger negotiations." They have "embarked on a smear-and-scur campaign that is not typical of dedicated trade union leaders."

AFL spokesmen "have permitted their judgment to become warped by their bitter personal hatreds."

They have further "thrown road blocks in the path of the merger talks while engaging in back alley maneuvering and jockeying to gain control."

Most important, spokesmen for the AFL "have indicated their opposition to and disdain for the state CIO's successful programs in political action."

THERE IS THE SUB. New Jersey AFL leaders have never made a secret of the fact that they feel the CIO spends inordinate time and money in politics.

The New Jersey AFL accepts lobbying and bargaining as traditional functions. In more than a dozen states AFL leaders share this view and have not merged, even though such influential AFL leaders as George Meany and James McDevitt have become committed to the CIO's kind of political action.

In the weeks, especially in the last days and hours, before this last election New Jersey CIO politicians were concentrating on getting out the Democratic vote.

An experienced labor reporter has told me that the CIO vote drive was every bit as efficient as the methods of Boss Hague in Jersey City when he was at the height of his power.

Registration was no casual matter. The local CIO headquarters had lists of voters, knew who was and who was not registered, and went after those who were not.

They turned their meetings into little more than political rallies. They saw that the Democratic vote got to the polls in a final dawn-to-dusk stint.

Following the recent CIO attack, AFL leaders voted unanimously to maintain their independence. It is expected that this impasse may go on for another two years.

Realistic Approach

World Body Refuses to Compromise With Reds

The handwriting on the wall—the prospect that next year may see more unemployed than in any year since the 1930's—is being realistically faced by Richard J. Gray, head of the Building and Construction Trades Department of the AFL-CIO, as he recommends a suspension of wage increases for 1958.

It is true that other labor leaders at the Atlantic City Convention have coldly rejected any such suggestion. They never made a bigger mistake. Unemployment, it is estimated by some economists, will run between five million and six million by next spring. Had the labor leaders generally agreed with Mr. Gray, the whole atmosphere in the economic situation throughout the country would have changed overnight from pessimism to optimism.

For the biggest issue before the country in 1958, as it approaches the congressional election in November, will be: "Who killed American prosperity and brought on the recession?"

LABOR-UNION leadership will have to bear the brunt of the blame. Certainly as the profits of corporations are studied—and they have been dropping drastically for several months in many lines—the favorite excuse for wage hikes, namely that corporate profits are high, will be absent.

There was a time when labor leaders agreed with the philosophy that wage increases should be accompanied by a corresponding rise in the productivity of labor per hour. But that has been superseded by the grab-while-you-can doctrine which insists that corporate profits must be shared with labor irrespective of whether there is an adequate surplus being accumulated to meet the needs of future expansion or "rainy days" ahead.

The responsibility for the present "recession," and what could turn into a "depression" before the end of 1958, is upon those who have frustrated the natural growth of the free-enterprise system.

Nor is any form of state socialism going to be the answer if the Republicans are driven from power by the economic downturn.

The signs point to a different kind of political reaction next time if "recession" deepens into "depression."

The Democratic party, one of whose potential candidates—Sen. Kennedy of Massachusetts—has not hesitated in recent months to help expose labor-union rackets, may find itself compelled to dig deeper into the misuses of economic power by national labor unions.

For the present "recession" is directly due to lack of capital formation. Other setbacks have been caused in the past either by excessive speculation or by inventory accumulation beyond demand but today's recession is largely due to the inability of people and corporations to save enough due to high prices.

THE CRY from the companies is that profit margins have been squeezed by high labor costs. Yet taxes of all kinds remain high. Any economy in which the federal government takes every year 32 per cent of the earnings of corporations, apart from state and local taxes, isn't healthy.

The cry from the individual citizen is that the cost of living is too high. Prices of all kinds are rising and "inflation" is blamed. But the principal cause of the continued inflation is the undebating pressure for wage increases every year irrespective of whether they are deserved.

In the year 1957, for instance, the built-in "escalator" clauses in union contracts and the size of the regular demands annually for more pay resulted in the largest total number of wage increases in American history.

The cost of articles bought by the consumer has risen in turn so that the economy has become involved in a vicious circle. The federal reserve board has tried to stop the "inflation spiral" by tightening money rates. But this is only one factor. Labor costs have aggravated the inflation. The net effect has been to slow down the wheels of the economy itself in the face of an increasing population and many unsatisfied demands for goods.

The labor-union leaders who disagree with Mr. Gray are saying that what is needed is more purchasing power for the individual. This is reminiscent of the doctrine that held back recovery in the 1930's when "made work" and "leaf-raking" projects were given a preference over the encouragement of capital goods expansion.

TODAY THERE'S a retardation of the growth of building and plant. It's due to the lack of capital derived from savings. Many individuals have been spending too much for luxuries and for installment purchases and have not been saving enough.

Repossessions of automobiles, due to the buyer's inability to pay, are running at a high rate. Many corporations have been faced with high costs and have been unable to save enough out of the year's profits to finance their own expansion. Depreciation reserves are not adequate.

If recovery is to be brought about as early as 1959, the Congress will have to do something soon about restricting industry-wide price fixing by labor unions.

Smart labor leaders will see the handwriting on the wall and begin to curtail the wage-increase routine at least for the year 1958. It could save the country from widespread unemployment—surely a major concern for labor leaders—and from the financial losses that a deep depression could bring.

Hints on Picture Taking

To The News: Exposure for colored pictures has always been a big problem for amateur photographers and the Salem Camera Club would like to take this means of making a few suggestions for outdoor exposures, particularly at Christmas.

The following suggestions are based on film having an exposure index of 10, either daylight or indoor film may be used, daylight giving warmer tones. Use a tripod.

If possible, follow exposure given on your meter. Bracket your shots for subjects you are real particular about. Do not take street ke'street lighting when the wind is blowing. In the absence of good meter reading, try the following:

16 Sec.	F 8
8 Sec.	F 5.6
4 Sec.	F 4
2 Sec.	F 2.8
1 Sec.	F 1.9

On street lighting, longer exposure will give more detail on buildings but may overexpose the lights. On flood-lighted buildings, close up one stop. On dark decorations such as blue bulbs open up 1 1/2 to 2 stops.

On residences, a flash will illuminate the foreground.

For Christmas tree lights, use flash. Put diaphragm setting on number indicated by guide number, set shutter on 1/4 second for bright trees, and one second for dark (blue bulbs, etc.).

The flash will give you the detail and long exposure will give colors a chance to soak in.

Again, these are the best suggestions we could assemble. Use your meter if at all possible.

The Salem Camera Club, Russell Hannay, president; Carl H. Juergens, publicist.

It wouldn't be possible for grade school teachers to teach all the things the kids think they know.

Mrs. Guy L. Ross

Dianne Peet Becomes Bride Of Airman

Montgomery, Ala., will be the future home of Lt. Guy L. Ross and his bride, the former Miss Dianne Peet who were married Nov. 30.

The couple exchanged their marriage vows in St. James Church in San Francisco, Calif.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Peet of Leetonia. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Ross of Kansas City, Kans. are parents of the bridegroom.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a waltz-length gown of white lace over satin. Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a crown-pearl tiara. She carried a show-er bouquet of white orchids and carnations. A pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom, completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Clayton Billings of San Francisco was matron of honor. She was gowned in a blue crystal-embroidered dress with which she wore a matching tiara. Pink carnations formed her bouquet.

Lt. John Raster of Travis Air Base was best man.

The couple are honeymooning at Carmel-by-the-Sea, and will reside in Montgomery, where Lt. Ross will attend Squadron Officers School.

50 Attend Girl Scout Council Christmas Dinner and Party

Christmas ornaments and candles provided table decorations at the Christmas dinner party for 50 Salem Girl Scout Council members Wednesday evening in the Memorial Building.

A buffet dinner was enjoyed, with a Christmas gift exchange featured during the evening.

A sleigh, reindeer and "working" Santas were arranged on the piano and bell clusters were centered at each window. Decorations were provided by Mrs. Harry Loria.

Mrs. Edward Radler was general chairman with Mrs. Charles Malloy and Mrs. Amil Cosma assisting with food arrangements. Mrs. Aubrey Hayes directed the games.

Hostesses were members of the Council board of directors. Mrs. Joseph Greenwood, president of the board, reported on the Christmas party at the Thursday morning board meeting at the Memorial Building.

The insulating project at Camp Merrydale has been completed and the camp is now ready for winter use. Mrs. Ray Stiver told the board. Work still to be done at the camp includes clearing of debris from the creek. Mrs. Stiver added.

Trefoil deadline will be Jan. 6, although contributors are urged to turn in news at an earlier date, according to Mrs. Hayes who said the paper would include the officer's slate for the 1958 year.

The annual Council dinner will be an event of Jan. 16 at the Memorial Building at 6:30 p.m.

Military in Future May Use Ohio Roads

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The military in the future may use Ohio roads to carry some of its rockets and airplane fusilages, the Ohio Department of Highways announced Thursday.

Charles M. Noble, Ohio's highway chief, said military men met with him and Capt. D. W. Unkle, enforcement chief of the State Highway Patrol, Wednesday to discuss truck movements over the state's roads.

Unkle said there were inquiries about making shipments 74 feet long and 10 feet wide. Such a shipment would require a special permit. Ohio law requires trailers to be no longer than 50 feet nor wider than eight feet.

Sheriff's Department Will Get New Auto

LISBON — Columbiana County Commissioners Thursday purchased a 1958 Chevrolet from the Hart Motor Car Co., Salineville, for the sheriff's department to replace the 1954 Hudson which the department has had for three years.

The old Hudson will be taken to the county garage and will replace a 1952 Hudson which will be traded in on the new Chevrolet.

The total cost to the county for the new car will be $2,120 with the firm allowing $446 for the 1952 auto.

Woman Collects Gold Fortune After 27-Year Legal Hassle

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 27-year international legal battle behind her, Mrs. Iona Slade Perkins winged back toward her home in Manila today, 144,000 shares of Philippine gold mining stock finally in her possession.

She flew into Cincinnati Thursday, paused only long enough to collect stock certificates certifying her ownership from the clerk of Hamilton County Common Pleas Court, then boarded a west-bound flight.

The spry, 72-year-old former New York resident, even so, complained to the court that price of the stock had declined from $25 to $1 a share during the years since 1930 in which she had taken her case to the courts of New York and California, the Supreme Court of the United States and the Philippine and then into the Common Pleas tribunals of Hamilton County (Cincinnati) and adjoining Clermont County.

The Cincinnati case was filed against First National Bank of this city, as transfer agent of the stock while the Clermont suit named as defendant John W. Haussermann, a native of the county who went to the Islands in 1898 as a Spanish War volunteer and remained to achieve fame as "gold king of the Philippines."

Since 1916 he has been president of the Benguet Consolidated Gold Mining Co., of Baguio, P.I. whose stock was involved in Mrs. Perkins' long battle.

Haussermann, one-time assistant attorney general of the islands, will observe his 90th birthday Dec. 14 on his Clermont County farm.

Mrs. Perkins originally acquired the stock in New York and took it with her to Manila, her residence as the wife of Eugene Arthur Perkins, for years general counsel for the mining firm. Perkins sued for divorce in 1930, claiming the stock under a Philippine statute which held, in effect, that no woman could own any property except the clothes on her back. The statute was repealed shortly after World War II.

Mrs. Perkins contested the action, citing her American origin and the fact that she acquired the stock in New York.

The Perkins were divorced in 1934. He died last April.

In February, 1955 the courts finally ruled in favor of Mrs. Perkins.

Once more, however, legal difficulties ensued. Her attorneys demanded 40,000 shares of the stock in lieu of a cash fee.

Mrs. Perkins refused and the court ordered the share placed in escrow pending settlement. A cash agreement involving $25,922 ultimately was reached and the court then ordered release of the stock.

Mrs. Perkins' flight into, and from the city Thursday, followed.

Minerva Woman Says Husband Killed by Someone in Canada

MINERVA, Ohio (AP)—A Minerva woman whose husband and two other men disappeared four weeks ago during a deer-hunting trip to Canada has challenged a report from Canadian authorities that the men probably were drowned when their motorboat upset in the Ottawa River.

Mrs. H. H. Bower thinks her 55-year-old husband and two younger Minerva men were murdered by someone who stole some of their equipment then arranged the evidence to indicate drowning.

Missing along with H. H. (Bill) Bower are Warren J. Custis, 36, and John Kenneth Moore, 36.

Their boat, with a hole near the waterline, was found on the Quebec side of the river, and the motor-throttle open and in reverse—was under 5 1/2 feet of water only 10 feet off the Ontario shore and a short distance down stream.

Mrs. Bower said. The river at that point, about 50 miles north-west of Ottawa, is about two miles wide.

The trio of hunters was due back here Sunday, Nov. 10. A game warden reported seeing a light in their tent Friday, Nov. 8, Mrs. Bower said. The warden, Henri Bedard, reported that he believed the Minerva men's boat, heavily laden with deer meat, had swamped and overturned in attempting to cross the river during a storm and winds Saturday.

"The evidence points to foul play," said Mrs. Bower, who has offered a $5,000 reward for information that her husband is alive and $500 for the finding of his body. During the last four weeks she has had a search of the area made by helicopter observers and skin divers. She sent a party of seven Minerva men to the area to investigate.

The housewife-turned-detective listed these points which she said made her doubt the accidental-death-by-drowning theory:

All three men were much too experienced at hunting to "take unnecessary risks or overload a boat," all were good swimmers and all were familiar with the area and "had been going from Alaska all through northern Canada for the last seven years."

A pigskin bag belonging to Bower and a shovel owned by Custis were found. Mrs. Bower said her husband never would have packed the bag the way it was packed, with film in the camera exposed, and that Custis "never left that pet shovel behind, but always carried it with him."

Bower was the only smoker and several packs of his brand of cigarettes were in the pigskin bag, yet several wrappers from Canadian cigarettes were found in the camp area.

Teamsters

declined, and as a result face suspension and expulsion.

Expulsion action against the Teamsters caused private misgivings among leaders of other AFL-CIO unions. The building trades have said possibly in a resolution opposing Teamsters punishment that the same thing might occur to other unions whose leaders were accused of corruption.

But AFL-CIO President George Meany pushed the Teamsters expulsion as an example for organizing labor and the country that corruption would be dealt with harshly.

Meany's stand was publicly applauded by President Eisenhower in a message to the AFL-CIO convention delivered by Secretary of Labor Mitchell.

Mitchell went on to outline a program of amendments to the Taft-Hartley law which he said Eisenhower will propose to Congress in January. They dealt both with the labor corruption issues and with other appropriate and timely changes in the nation's labor laws.

The administration legislative proposals called for strict disclosure and accounting for union funds and practices, election of union officers at least every four years by secret members' ballot, and a bribery ban on union and management representatives passing money to each other.

Mitchell pledged President Eisenhower as being opposed to enactment of any national "right-to-work" law, opposed by unions; applying the antitrust laws to labor organizations, or tightening political spending bans against unions.

But he went on to say the administration will propose that Congress ban certain forms of picketing and broaden secondary boycott prohibitions of the present law.

AFL-CIO leaders generally praised the administration proposals, although picking some flaws.

MEETING IS CANCELED

The Band Mothers Club meeting previously scheduled for Monday night has been canceled because of the High School Parent-Teacher Association meeting.

The next meeting will be Jan. 13.

no use sending the jurors back into session. He said:

"It would be abusive discretion on the part of the court to make the jury do something it didn't want to do."

Calabrese and Perotti introduced witnesses in their defense to back an alibi that they were returning from a trip to Florida at the time of the killing.

State's star witness was Paul Carpenter, who has admitted being the trigger man in the slaying of Shoup, but who tagged Calabrese and Perotti as being in the gang with him. The defense maintained Carpenter's story was a vengeful invention.

Shoup and his father Earl, 49, surprised burglars at the Alliance home of Frank Wells, and in the scuffle that followed Eldon was slain. The Shups had been engaged as caretakers for the Wells home while Wells was in Florida.

Wells testified $100,000 he kept in a safe in the basement of his house was missing. Wells also testified he had engaged in gambling operations and the elder Shoup had assisted him, but both said that the slain man, Eldon Shoup, had no part in the gambling enterprises.

of State Dulles early last month that he go to Paris as a private citizen in advance of the Dec. 16 meeting.

Stevenson's idea was that he could talk to his friends in Europe with a view to winning their support for an American plan for overcoming Soviet advances typified by the Sputnik satellite. Instead, he became a consultant in drawing up a program for the NATO meeting, although he has expressed reservations regarding the plans being developed.

Stevenson's view is that the Paris meeting will be devoted almost exclusively to strengthening NATO's military posture.

As Stevenson sees it, this is a time to enlarge and combine the skills and resources of the Western world so as to help develop the uncommitted backward areas.

Ralph Forsythe Says 'Victim' Shot With Blank Cartridge

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Ralph Forsythe, on trial for the alleged slaying of Charles Conner, told the court Thursday that he shot the "victim" with a blank cartridge.

The 40-year-old defendant, charged with first degree murder, said Conner was dozing at the kitchen table in Forsythe's home Aug. 10 during a celebration of Conner's 37th birthday. Forsythe said he fired at Conner from close range to wake him up.

Forsythe said three witnesses to the shooting ran from the house and Forsythe said he told Conner: "My God, those people will think I killed you."

The defendant said Conner replied, "Yeah, you're right," and went back to sleep.

Forsythe testified that he ran after the men in an attempt to catch up with them and explain. He said he found one witness, Larue Arrington, who had stumbled over a garden hose, and tried to convince him the shooting was all in fun.

He said when he got back to the kitchen neither Conner nor the gun was there. Forsythe said he has not seen either since. Conner has never been found.

Earlier in the trial, defense attorney Ernest Navarre re-enacted the shooting by suddenly drawing a gun and firing a blank cartridge at his assistant, Joseph Depore.

Navarre Thursday also began an attempt to prove that blood found in Forsythe's kitchen and in a truck belonging to the defendant was that of Forsythe and not Conner.

He called Dr. David Steiner of Lima who testified that Forsythe came to his home about 4 a.m. July 17 for treatment of a nose bleed. He said he sent Forsythe to Lima Memorial Hospital.

Another witness, Mrs. Weltha White, in charge of the records department of the Lima hospital, said Forsythe entered the hospital on that day and remained there for one day.

Forsythe said he got the nose bleed in a fist fight early in the morning of July 17 at a bar in Lima.

He said he went home, tried to treat himself and got blood on the floor of the kitchen, on the table and on the back porch. When he could not stop it, he said, he drove his truck to the doctor.

Forsythe also said Thursday that on Aug. 9, the day before the shooting supposedly took place, he washed his panel truck, mainly the inside, because he spilled a can of anchovies on the floor and washed the truck to get rid of the odor.

The prosecution contends that the water wrung from the floor mat of the truck came from a well in a roadside park near Cadiz where Forsythe was said to have been seen Aug. 11.

Forsythe told the court he stayed at his home about 15 minutes after he fired the blank at Conner. During that time, he said, Willie Washington, a self-employed truck driver who testified Wednesday, came to the house and asked to borrow Forsythe's truck. Washington had said he called earlier asking to borrow the truck.

Forsythe said he told Washington he could not borrow the truck since he had to go to Canton.

ACCIDENTALLY STRANGLES

DAYTON, Ohio — Michael Dean Scurry, 3, died in the basement of his Dayton home Thursday when his neck became tangled in a clothesline while he was playing on a hobby horse, police reported. The accident was discovered when his mother called him for lunch.

Youngsters' Phone Calls Keep Santa's Circuit Humming

The telephone circuit to the "North Pole residence of Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus" was swamped Wednesday and Thursday nights with calls of Salem children eager to express their Christmas gift desires to the genial couple.

"Be patient, parents and children" was the plea voiced today by Salem Senior Citizens Club members who are acting as telephone operators for the calls to Santa which may be made to ED 7-3191 each day, Monday through Saturday, from 5 to 7 p.m.

Ninety-two children called throughout the evening Wednesday, keeping the circuit constantly busy. Children who call Santa will receive letters acknowledging the calls as well as souvenirs. Senior Citizens remind parents to be sure the children know their names and addresses before calling so that the conversations may be speeded up.

The "North Pole service" will be continued until Monday, Dec. 23, so each child should have a chance to talk to Santa, club members emphasize.

The Memorial Building office is the site of the calls. The Park Commission is sponsoring the event; and the Y-Teens of the Young Woman's Christian Association are assisting in letter preparations.

Dairies, Plumbers Must Renew Licenses

Service fees for milk products and the applications for renewal of plumber's licenses for 1958 in Salem will be accepted by the City Health Department during December.

Dairy plants that handle, sell or distribute milk shall pay the following fees: $10 for a daily average of 10 gallons or less; $25 for an average of 10 to 150 gallons; $50 for an average of 150 to 40 gallons; and $75 for a daily average of 400 to 1,000 gallons.

Each individual or corporation engaged in the manufacture or delivering of ice cream shall pay $15 annually, providing a service charge has not been made for distributing and selling milk.

A total of $20 plus a $1,000 surety bond is required for the renewal of a master plumber's license. Renewal of a journeyman's license is $1.

Checks are payable to the Salem Health Department at City Hall.

Ohio Shoplifting Ring Reported Broken

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A statewide shoplifting ring was reported broken Wednesday with the arrest of three Cleveland people. The arrests came shortly after some $1,000 worth of merchandise was stolen from three downtown department stores here.

The three are Willie Wilkams, 24; Mrs. Lillian E. Taylor, 33, and Mrs. Shirley J. Williams, 23. The two named Williams are not related.

Main St. Motors, Mark's Victors In City Cage Tilts

Sportsmen Defeat Alliance Team 56 To 49

The Sportsmen Club and Main St. Motors of Columbiana emerged in winning fashion Thursday night in the first two Class A city league basketball games to be staged this season.

The Sportsmen beat Murphy's Service of Alliance 56-49 while Main St. Motors beat Youngstown Kitchens 54-49.

Mark's Landing beat City's Service 56-39 in a single Class B clash.

Bob Payer led the way for the Sportsmen by popping in 20 points. He was backed up by 14 from Ed Jordan, 12 from Dick Miner and 10 from Corrie Vandebilt.

Eldon Linder had 15 and Ray Sulzer, 13 for the losing Murphy five.

The victors led at the half 26-20 and at the end of three periods, 46-31.

Kitchens spurred to a 14-4 first period lead and led by as much as 10 points in the third period but it wasn't enough to subdue a determined Main St. team that fought back to cop the verdict.

The losers put forth a balanced scoring attack, with Wayne "Slick" Harris netting 13 and Bob Lutsch and Carl Ciccozi, 12 each.

Bud McReery had 16, Jim Nickols had 14, Don Hinton, 11 and Chick McBride, 10 for the winners.

Twenty-three points by Phil Wenner sparked Mark's past City's Service, Norm Kanagy, Bob Thompson and Merle Darrah each had nine for the winners also.

Ed Miller paced the losers with 10.

Marks led 19-16 at the half and 35-22 at the end of three periods.

Gottschling, Baird To Play For Mt. Union

Harry Baird, who scored 339 points last season, and Jack Gottschling will be in the starting lineup when the Mt. Union Raiders open their 1957-58 collegiate basketball year tomorrow night at Wittemberg.

Wittenberg is one of the favorites to cop the 14-team Ohio Conference race this season.

For the first time in four years, Mount will be without the services of Don "Goose" Talbert, the all-time scoring leader and little All-American choice.

Expected to pick up the scoring punch will be Baird and Charlie Kemp of Farrell, Pa. Kemp scored 288 markers last year.

Gottschling, one of two seniors on the squad, will open at one of the guard slots. He is the hustler for the Raiders.

Dan Richards of Canfield, a junior, will start at one of the forward positions with Baird. The fifth starter is Bill Roof of Poland. He scored 248 points last season and is being counted on in the rebounding department.

Wittenberg has six lettermen back, including little All-American Jerry Deems. He is 6-4.

Wittenberg finished third last season in the Ohio Conference race while Mount ended up fifth.

The Raiders, however, beat Wittenberg 65-50.

Gardnar Mulloy, Seixas Beat Philippines' Doubles Team

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — and on courts dampened by morning rain, was a slaughter for America's more experienced aces. Ampon and Deyro, accustomed to playing on slow clay surfaces instead of grass, lacked the weapons to counteract the Yanks' powerful service and volleying games.

Bill Talbert, U.S. captain, said he thought Mulloy and Seixas teamed well together, but felt the match was not a true test of American strength.

"The Belgians will be much tougher," he said.

The winner of the Belgium-U.S. match next week will meet Australia in the Challenge Round Dec. 26-28.

Notre Dame Favored Over SMU Eleven

DALLAS (AP) — Notre Dame, which included mighty Oklahoma in its sweep along the comeback trail and Southern Methodist, hoping to wind up a winning season for the first time in three years, fire last shots of the college football campaign here Saturday.

The Irish, after a 7-3 record to offset one of their worst seasons in history, are heavy favorites to beat an SMU team that has done better than expected but still is only 50-50 for the year.

Any success Southern Methodist may have rests on the passing of Don Meredith, its sensational sophomore who has one of the greatest completion averages in football—736 with 54 connections in 87 throws.

Coach Terry Brennan of Notre Dame expressed great respect for Meredith, who operates from SMU's colorful spread formation. Notre Dame has scouted the Methodist three times this season, however, and they saw Texas Christian put a quietus on the Mustang thrower last week by the simple process of rushing him all over the field.

Notre Dame, piloted by the brilliant Bob Williams is far ahead of SMU both offensively and defensively. The Irish, in nine games, have rolled up 2,567 yards compared to 2,069 and have held their foes to 2,80 while SMU has given up 2,571.

Western Reserve Edged by Newell

The Western Reserve Blue Devils dropped their second game in a row last night in losing an 81-70 verdict to Newell, W. Va. The Blue Devils had won three successive games prior to their last two outings.

The game was tied at the end of the quarter and at the half, but the visiting West Virginians rallied in the third and fourth stanzas to put them ahead of the Reserve five.

Smith of Newell paced all scorers with 30 points. Reserve's Jim Larkins hit on 12 fielders and three fouls for 27 points to pace the losers.

The Blue Devil JVs won their tilt 35-27.

Reserve's next game is Saturday night at home against Ravens.

Isaac Logart Favored To Defeat Ortega

CLEVELAND (AP)—The loser of tonight's 12-round battle between Isaac Logart and Gaspar (Indian) Ortega will have a long wait for a crack at the vacant welter weight title.

The winner—and Logart is favored—will continue to scrap other fighters in an elimination tournament for the 147-pound division crown surrendered by Carmen Basilo. Basilo gave up the title after belting Sugar Ray Robinson out of the middleweight championship.

Tonight's fight is the first of the elimination series — and the loser won't get another chance at the title until the championship is settled among five other fighters in the division, if he gets a chance at all.

Although beaten two out of three times by Ortega, the 24-year-old Logart is a 7-5 favorite, mostly on the basis of his No. 1 rating in the welterweight ranks.

Logart's role as favorite was also helped when Basilo picked him as the next king of the welters.

Salem's two-plateon cage squad which battled Louisville in a pre-view tilt at Sebring this week presented local fans with somewhat of a contrast in courtwood prowess.

There was no distinction between a "first" and a "second" team. Coach John Cabas utilized 10 players in an effort to acquaint all his basketball gladiators with what to expect when regular season play starts.

On the "A" squad which began the game, he used Bill Pauline, John Sturgeon, Butch Platt, Woody Deitch and Danny Krichbaum. Only Pauline in this group performed as a regular last season. Sturgeon was a second string sub; Platt, Deitch and Krichbaum were mainstays on the JV squad, besides seeing some action in varsity frays.

ON THE "B" SQUAD, he used Moe Meissner, Lou Slaby, Clyde Marks, Darryl Adams, and Dave Hunter. Here again, only one man was a regular during the 1956-57 campaign. That was Meissner, although Slaby saw enough time to earn a letter. Marks and Adams played mostly with the JVs while Hunter performed with the freshman team.

The Quakers' 23-21 defeat can be attributed to more than one reason. All losses in any sport are.

It would not be fair to attribute it to the fact that Salem used four gridders on their "B" squad. Lisbon and Columbiana, both victorious, floored teams composed mainly of former football personnel.

There ARE NO excuses for the Quakers' loss. They were outmaneuvered in the components of a basketball game, which alone determining a winner and a loser.

Cabas undoubtedly made copious notes on what drills he should stress in preparation for next Tuesday's kid-lifter with Struthers.

By the time Salem's win-loss record is formulated to any extent this season, fans will know whether Cabas was able to convert the 10 players who saw action this week into a group of five capable and fighting performers.

Harry Baird and Jack Gottschling were both in the starting lineup for Mt. Union College last Monday night against the Akron Good-year Wingfoots of the National Industrial Basketball League. Good-year won 90-53.

Baird chipped in with 12 points while "Guber" failed to score.

The Raiders open at home Dec. 13 against Grove City, Pa. Paul Scullion and George Mitchell have qualified for the finals of the Columbiana County championship bowling championship to be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Ranch on the East Palestine-Columbiana Road.

Scullion qualified with a 575 series on games of 197-198-180 while Mitchell posted a 570 set on 215-176-179.

Minor Leagues Urge Probe Of Pro Sports

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The minor leagues, united in a revolt against Sunday major league TV invasion of their territory, waited today for an answer to their demands for a new congressional investigation of baseball.

The enraged minors, led by Frank Shaughnessy of the International League, fired off appeals to Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and Rep. Frank Keating (R-N.Y.).

Minor executives bristled over reports at least five major clubs—New York, Cleveland, Chicago White Sox, Philadelphia and Cincinnati — have signed to telecast a selected Sunday game of the week.

Minor leaders presented a formal protest to the majors here. "I told them that it was a case of greed on their part — plain greed," Shaughnessy said. He said the majors pick up two million dollars yearly from the Saturday game of the week, telecast the past three years.

"A Sunday game would just about kill the minors off altogether," Shaughnessy said. Asked if the minors wanted a share of the TV income, Shaughnessy said: "We don't want their damn money and we don't want their damn TV."

Commissioner Ford Frick said he was on the minors' side. "Good," he said. "I hope they can get Congress to pass legislation making it possible for us to put restrictions on TV."

Troy's Ferguson Chosen State's Top Offensive Star

Massillon Places 2 On 1st Team

East Cleveland's King In Quarterback Spot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio draped the mantle of gridiron greatness over its scholastic stars today. The best of the Buckeye boys have been awarded berths on The 1957 Associated Press all-state high school team.

They come from everywhere—big schools and little schools, winning schools and losing schools—but each selection battled his way to the top on sheer individual brilliance.

In keeping with the high school style of unlimited substitutions, offensive and defensive teams were chosen—although many of the outstanding stars are "both way" players. Selections were made with the aid of more than 800 coaches, sports writers, sports casters and officials. The all-star team is recognized as official by the Ohio High School Football Coaches Assn.

Members on The Associated Press squad will help the senior members along the way in the race for berths on the North-South squads. They will be selected this weekend by the coaches for the August game in Canton.

Bob Ferguson of Troy, block-busting fullback chosen as the state's No. 1 offensive star, was the vote-getting standout and was awarded the captaincy of the first team. The second team captaincy went to Cleveland Benedictine's grail halfback, George Seifick, who just missed a first string job. Charley Young of Van Wert—who has never played in a losing game—grabbed the third team leadership.

The first team offensive unit, featuring explosive backs behind a huge but mobile line, is an all-senior combination. Only Massillon was able to place two men on it, the Tigers winning an end berth with Clyde Childers, and the left halfback spot with Ivory Benjamin. The latter, a 160-pounder who stands only five-eight, has a East Liverpool's George Hale as his running mate. Hale, on a team which won only three of 10 games, averaged nine yards per carry, and scored 13 touchdowns and three extra points. Benjamin, with a 7.9-yard average, counted 17 times. He was named the most valuable player in Stark County.

Calling signals for the fleet backs is Tom King of Leo Strang's once-beaten East Cleveland Shaw team. King, a straight "A" student, is an outstanding ball-handler, passer and runner, and led the Lake Erie League in scoring. He was a 48-minute player.

Ken Skufca, Cleveland Benedictine's 245-pound tackle, named the state's No. 1 offensive lineman, anchors the offensive line. Opposite him is Pete Williams, Dayton Chaminade. Les Traver of Alliance took the end berth opposite Childers.

Owensby Pearson of Akron South repeated at guard, where he is paired with Jerry Harbin of Marion Harding's Presidents. The center is 260-pound Dave Owen of Northridge, near Dayton, who moves like a player weighing 10 pounds less.

The selections were made from among some 20,000 boys on the state squads, and a player must be a standout to land among even the honorable mentions.

Salem Gridders Get Honorable Mention On All-Ohio Squad

Three Salem high gridders today were given honorable mention on the Associated Press All-Ohio football squad.

The three are Jim Meissner, Henry Maxim and Bill Holzwarth. Last season Meissner guided the team from the quarterback slot and completed 30 passes for 12 touchdowns.

Maxim voted the team's most valuable player by his mates, played both offensive fullback and defensive lineman. He was the squad's leading scorer with 11 touchdowns.

Holzwarth, who caught seven of Meissner's aerials for touchdowns, was also named to the AP honorable mention list.

Other players named, whom the Quakers faced during the campaign, were George Hale of East Liverpool and Jim Hodge of Brookfield.

Hale was named to the first string backfield while Hodge was given honorable mention in the backfield.

Mervin Spencer of Youngstown South was named to second team defensive linebacker slot.

Les Traver of Alliance was chosen as a first string end.

7 Teams to Battle For AAU Track Title

CHICAGO (AP)—A three team fight for the title is predicted for the national AAU senior 10,000 meter (64 miles) cross country championship over the Washington Park course Saturday.

Ted Haydon, University of Chicago track coach and director of the meet, predicts that the team crown will be a race among the New York Athletic Club, the University of Houston Track Club and the University of Chicago Track Club.

Other contending teams are the Cleveland Stirlers, Buffalo YMCA Track Club, Toronto Olympic Club and the Cleveland Magyar Athletic Club.

Rivals of Braves Express

Anger Over Trade With Cubs

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—National League rivals for Milwaukee's crown expressed amazement, disbelief and just plain anger today over the five-player trade between the Braves and Chicago Cubs that further strengthened the world champions' heavily stocked pitching staff.

"I think that's awful," muttered Roy Hamer, general manager of the Philadelphia Phillies when informed that the Braves had acquired veteran pitcher Bob Rush, sophomore right-hander Don Kaiser and rookie outfielder Eddie Haas from Chicago in exchange for southpaw Taylor Phillips and catcher Sammy Taylor.

"What did the Braves use on those poor Cubbies, a gun? They were tough enough before. Now it looks like we really have our work cut out for us."

Mayo Smith, manager of the Phillies, wouldn't believe it at first. "How can they make a deal like that?" he asked. "I'd sure like to know."

Buzzie Bavasi, Los Angeles Dodgers vice president and general manager said: "It looks like that will make it that much tougher for us to catch them next year."

Mrs. Ladewig Fires 922 In Four Games

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Marion Ladewig, six times national women's bowling champion, took the spotlight Thursday in the first round of the World's Invitational bowling tournament at the Chicago Coliseum.

The 42-year-old Grand Rapids, Mich., grandmother fired a spectacular 922 in four games to lead the field of 64 women seeking berths in the match-game finals. Mrs. Ladewig, 5 feet 4 and weighing 10 pounds, started with a 201 game, hit 265 in the second and followed with 234 and 222 for a 230 average.

Meanwhile, in the men's division, 49 of the 160 competing in the preliminary rounds posted scores of 1,200 or better for six games. Topping the list was Joe Schmidt, a 45-year-old salesman from Albany, N.Y.

The top 47 men in the preliminary rounds will join defending champion Don Carter of St. Louis in the match game phase of the marathon event starting Monday and continuing through Dec. 13. The 15 leading women shooters will join Mrs. Ladewig in the match game event.

Mrs. Ladewig's 922 score gave her a lead of 133 pins over second place Ann Karrer of Philadelphia who had 809 for second place and Joyce Rosenbom, the former Chicago softball star player, who had 808 for third. These three were the only women to average 200 or better in the first four-game block.

Schmidt fired a lofty 253 final game for a total of 1,308 to give him a 12-pin bulge over veteran Steve Nagy of St. Louis, who finished his six games with 1,296.

Behind the two leaders was Robert Strampe of Excelsior, Minn., who hit 1,295.

San Francisco Giants officials complained they had offered the Cubs much more in playing talent in a proposed deal involving Rush.

The transaction was the second of the day. Earlier, the St. Louis Cardinals sent three pitchers—veteran Willard Schmidt and rookie Madty Kutyna and Ted Wiecek—to the Cincinnati Redlegs for two outfielders, Joe Taylor and rookie Curtis Flood.

The addition of Rush and Kaiser will complement a Milwaukee staff headed by southpaw Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl, and backed up by Juan Pizarro, Gene Conley and Bob Trowbridge.

Rush was a much better pitcher last season than his 6-16 record indicated. He lost several 1-0, 2-1 and 3-2 games, as well as a few in extra innings for the Cubs.

Royals Score 109-99 Win Over Pistons

By The Associated Press
The Cincinnati Royals, occupants of the Western Division cellar of the National Basketball Assn. when their franchise was in Rochester last season, have moved into a contending position for the lead.

The transplanted Royals downed the Detroit Pistons 109-99 and the first place St. Louis Hawks bowed to the Warriors 124-109 in a doubleheader at Philadelphia Thursday night. No other games were played.

The victory enabled rumpund Cincinnati to climb within a game and a half of the Hawks. Philadelphia's triumph put the Warriors into a second-place tie with idle Syracuse in the Eastern Division.

The Royals forged to the front midway in the first period and never were headed. They opened a 51-44 halftime advantage and when Detroit threatened late in the third period, the Royals applied the pressure to rally safely ahead.

E. Furnace, Kitchens, Buckeye AC Win Tilts

Electric Furnace beat Deming's, Youngstown Kitchens topped the Farmers Bank and the Buckeye AC beat the Post Office in volleyball games played Thursday night in the Memorial Building.

Furnace won by scores of 10-12, 13-5 and 11-5. Winning scores for Kitchens were 13-8, 7-15 and 13-11 while Buckeye was victorious 15-4, 15-3 and 16-14.

Bruins Tally 7-2 Victory Over Wings

DETROIT (AP)—Len (Red) Kelly,

captain of the Detroit Red Wings, has an opportunity to become the first player in hockey history to get all-star recognition at two different positions in as many seasons.

The circumstances are unusual ones, for Kelly made the change from defenseman to left wing at the age of 30. The all-star defenseman made the switch Nov. 16 when he returned to the lineup following a knee injury.

This is Kelly's 11th National Hockey League season. In that span, he and Montreal's Doug Harvey have dominated the all-star defense corps. Kelly has been on the first team a half-dozen times and on the second all-star team twice. Harvey has been a first-team selection six times.

Boston held Kelly scoreless Thursday night as the Bruins posted a season scoring record of 7-2 over the Wings. Four of Boston's goals came in an almost flawless first period with Doug Mohns, Flemming Mackel, Leo Labine and Vic Stasiuk cohting for the Bruins.

Montreal's Dickie Moore notched a pair of goals as the Canadiens edged the Toronto Maple Leafs in the only other National Hockey League meeting.

The departure of Ted Lindsay, injuries and the failure of young players to come through as expected brought about the switch in positions for Kelly, and Detroit coach Jim Skinner says it's a permanent one.

"He's at forward to stay," said Skinner. "We knew he'd be adequate there, but he's outdone all our expectations."

To Get Physical Exams

All boys out for High School basketball, who did not undergo physical examinations during football season, are requested to be at the front entrance of the school gymnasium at 1 p.m. Saturday to receive their exams.

TO PLAY IN '58 TOURNEY

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Ohio State will play in the University of Kentucky's invitational basketball tournament in 1958, UK athletic director Bernie Shively has announced. It was the first invitation announced for the tourney next year.

The first talking movie was "Don Juan," which Warner Brothers released in 1926. The sound was on synchronized phonograph records.

Minnesota Registers 67-66

Win Over Iowa State Squad

By The Associated Press
North Carolina State's Wolfpack, the perennial Atlantic Coast king, pms until Frank McGuire's North Carolina Tar Heels came along to dominate the league and win the national title, may make this the season for a comeback.

At least the Wolfpack started out on the right foot in the Conference competition. Thursday night, they turned back Wake Forest 62-51 on a late drive that increased a slim two-point lead to 15 during a four-minute stretch.

The slim college basketball schedule also was highlighted by Minnesota's 67-66 victory over Iowa State and Georgia Tech's 73-62 triumph over Alabama.

In other games, Tulsa opened by downing New Mexico A&M 62-56; Richmond beat Virginia Tech 72-62 in a Southern Conference game; Nebraska downed Wyoming 77-66; Princeton defeated Lafayette 75-72; St. John's of Brooklyn rode over Roanoke 86-62 and Louisville walloped Georgetown, Ky. 74-54.

North Carolina State, which had a 7-7 Conference mark and was 15-11 over-all last season, as ranked behind North Carolina, Maryland and Duke, in the 1957-1958 pre-season estimates. But the Wolfpack appeared improved against Wake Forest. Particularly impressive was Bob MacGillivray, a 6-4 junior, who scored 20 points, —nine during State's pivotal rally.

Minnesota's youthful Gophers, spanked Southern Methodist in their opener Monday night, refused to get excited in the face of Iowa State's relentless half-hawking. Whitey Johnson's driving field goal with 15 seconds left clinched matters. Lyle Frahm had 21 points for the losers.

Georgia Tech jumped off to a big lead behind the shooting of Bud Blenker and Terry Randall. Randall wound up with 21 points.

Richmond thwarted Virginia Tech's offense with a sliding zone defense in the second half. Tech had a four-point lead at the half.

Tulsa, a Missouri Valley club had its hands full with the New Mexico Aggies, who lost to Ray and Arkansas earlier in the week.

Roger Wendel, who led the Tulsa scorers with 16 points, insured the victory with a pair of free throws with a little more than a minute remaining.

Salem Man Bags

Black Bear, Deer

Edwin Kaminski of 417 E. 6th St. had good luck on a hunting trip to Warren County, Pa. on Thanksgiving weekend. Kaminski bagged a 155-pound black bear and an eight-point deer. The deer weighed 170 pounds and had an extra large rack. Kaminski used his own custom-made .308 rifle to shoot the animals. He and his friend, Warren, Pa., while on their trip.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

ATLANTIC CITY. Among the hundreds of colorful labor men who have kept the headlines black and bold these past two years are experts on missile-men as well as muscle-men. They are just as concerned with getting the Thors off the assembly lines as they are with getting the thugs out of labor. These experts on rockets are deeply disturbed, for they have heard that the Central Intelligence Agency secretly has told the Senate inquiry the following still-unreported details:

The Russians now are in a position to wipe out all of our overseas bases, except two, with a brand new 1,000-mile type missile. The Soviet war ministry has stock-piled 20 to 30 missiles of this 1,000 mile range. More are rolling out each month.

These missiles have uncanny accuracy. They can put a hydrogen warhead within four miles of a target.

THE KREMLIN also has a supply of 500-mile thermonuclear warhead missiles. These 500-milers can destroy a big coastal city. The shortage missile has been perfected through target practice by Red submarines in the Arctic waters.

These subs can stand off any coast and shoot the missiles from submerged positions. The two or three men here who know about these things say that CIA reported that the 500-milers are in "commercial production" in secret Russian factories.

Despite Nikita Khrushchev's boasts, however, the Russians have been able successfully to shoot only two intercontinental ballistic missiles.

That much for CIA's grim report. The labor people in the airplane and pilotless aircraft field have done some research of their own. They are the labor men who have been fighting the Pentagon's hundreds of telegraphed orders slashing overtime work and cutting tens of thousands of skilled men off payrolls in missile factories.

These union chiefs knew that orders for certain type of aircraft and missiles had to be cut. But the labor men warned of the danger of releasing over 100,000 skilled workers from any employment.

THEY SOUNDED the alarm, too, against driving away tens of thousands more through the loss of overtime which would cut their income. These workers would seek better paying jobs in other industries, the unionists pointed out.

Now these union experts are warning that the frenzy over scientists and engineers will do the country little good because we have no reserve force of trained working people to build the complex electronic weapons of the future.

One of the nation's experts on rockets is Al Hayes, president of the International Assn. of Machinists. He has watched the field closely despite the fact that as chairman of the Ethical Practices Committee he has been busy fighting the rackets this past year.

Now that the Ethical Practices Committee is set to ease operations for a few months to give its members a chance to devote more time to their own unions, you'll hear more from Hayes on aircraft and missiles. In fact, the Dec. 5 edition of his union newspaper, the Machinist, raises a grim issue.

"For years Americans have revered the engineer as the man who could develop the weapons we need to defend our country. Now suddenly we realize that without scientists, the engineers' weapons are soon outdated. This discovery, important as it is, is only a half truth..." the paper warns.

"THE WHOLE TRUTH is that engineers and scientists together have never assembled an aircraft, launched a missile or built an artificial satellite.

"The scientists find out for us how we can put to use the gases, the minerals, the life around us. The engineers translate these ideas into blueprints. But we still need a third man, the journeyman, who can take that blueprint and mold, unformed metal and machine it to a ten-thousandth of an inch tolerance (minute measurements). "It takes a journeyman (skilled worker) to make the experimental model and then to set up a production job. Our training of journeymen, our apprenticeship system, is lagging as seriously as our program for the schooling of scientists. There are less than 250,000 apprentices training in the US today — all crafts. That's not even enough to replace the journeymen who will retire or soon die."

How many the Russians train is a top Kremlin secret — so important do the Communists believe this training is. We don't know what the Reds have.

We do know, they say here, that we might find ourselves unable to produce what the scientists create

Freeway Construction To Begin Next Spring

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—First construction on the Cincinnati to Columbus leg of the Cincinnati to Cincinnati Freeway will begin next spring, the Ohio Department of Highways said today.

Charles M. Noble, Ohio's highway chief, said 12 miles in Franklin County will be built under two contracts.

The remainder of the freeway between Columbus and the Cincinnati area will not be under construction until after July 1, 1959.

U.S. Paratrooper Neal Stewart set a world record of 124 continuous parachute jumps at Grand Prairie, Tex., July 5, 1952.

Fifty Map Future Plans At Scouters Round Table

Fifty scouting leaders gathered at the roundtable for northern district scouters Wednesday night at the CIO Hall when the future programs for Cub, Boy and Explorer Scouts were mapped.

Fred Joebechen, the new district commissioner, was introduced by Leonard McDaniel, Scout Council field executive, during the evening program which was opened by Calvin Filler, council commissioner, who spoke on "Together We Grow."

"Movie Makers" was the theme of the Cub Scout session when a snapshot contest for northern district Cubs was set for January. Prizes will be awarded in four categories, including outdoor scenes, action, portraits and animal life.

Christmas legends of other lands were recited by Miss Lavilla Smart who also told the story of "The Christmas Apple" by Ruth Sawyer.

Boy Scout leaders scheduled a Polar Bear campout for Dec. 28 and 29 at Camp McKinley. The boys will sleep in tents and cook in the stone house, it was decided, and work on merit badges in craft work will be on the agenda.

The Explorer Scout Polar Bear camp out is set for Jan. 10-12 at Camp McKinley where the scouts will sleep in tents and will eat in cook outs as posts. Plans include a lost child search, good will construction program, midnight hikes camp fires, and a Sunday morning worship service.

Explorer and Boy Scouts are asked to register for civic and area emergency service with Aubrey Hayes, advisor of Salem Explorer Post 56.

Death Scene Described By Coblentz

MILLERSBURG, Ohio (U)—The death scene in the slaying of a young Amish farmer was described in detail by the victim's father Thursday before the first degree murder trial of Eugene Cleo Peters adjourned for the weekend.

The father, Moses Coblentz, of near Mount Hope, told of how he was awakened the night of July 13 by a dog's bark and someone's shouts coming from his son's home 200 feet away.

He raced to the scene, Coblentz said, and there saw his son Paul, 25, lying on the floor. Paul was still breathing, the elder Coblentz testified.

Behind the body, the father continued, he saw Paul's wife Dora, screaming hysterically, her dress torn about her waist. Nearby, Coblentz said, the couple's 18-month-old daughter was crying.

Coblentz said he ran to a neighbor's house and called authorities. When he returned, he said, his son was still breathing and Dora was trying to wash blood away from a wound in Paul's shoulder.

The son died from his wounds. Coblentz said when he later confronted Peters in the Holmes County jail, Peters admitted the slaying because he needed money.

Peters, 19, of Muscatine, Iowa and his companion, Michael Dumoulin, 20, of Wooster, are accused of shooting Coblentz during a robbery. Dumoulin will be tried in January.

Catastrophes, such as hurricanes and accidents, took approximately 1,200 lives in the United States in the first half of 1957.

November Industrial Payroll Is Lowest

Industrial payrolls in Salem in November amounted to $1,515,737, a monthly low for the year, statistics released by the Chamber of Commerce revealed today.

The 21-day Deming Co. strike contributed to the low payroll last month that brought this year's 11-month total to $19,534,615.

The industrial payroll in October was $1,634,166.

The 11-month payroll total for this year is $1,147,385 behind the 1956 total at this time.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average two to four degrees above normal. Normal high: 39 north; 42 south. Normal low: 26-28. Mild south; colder north. Saturday. Colder Sunday and Monday. Near normal temperatures Tuesday and Wednesday. Rain tonight and Saturday, probably changing to snow flurries Saturday night and ending Sunday. Rain or snow likely again Monday or Tuesday.

The Six-Year Old

By ED CREAUGH
For Hal Boyle

WASHINGTON (U)—There must be some easier way to live than with a six-year-old boy.

He is a power pack of destructive energy, a tornado of disruptive noise. He takes out with the thrust of a Jupiter rocket when you need him for something. He clings to you like a stamp to a letter when you want to be alone.

The six-year-old is convinced he knows everything worth knowing—and then he forgets how to tie his shoe. He can dial a seven-digit telephone number but he can't remember whether the teacher said there would be school tomorrow.

He can't find a toy or a book if it's leaning on him. It's against the rules of the six-year-old's union for him to brush his teeth without firm supervision, if not active assistance.

You conclude, miserably, that you have parented an idiot. And then, as calmly as you please, he beats you at checkers three games running and you're forced to admit he's a genius after all.

Unquestionably the six-year-old is in league with the devil. In no other way could he have become so perverse. He insists on lounging indoors, watching television, on the most sparkling day of the year. He insists on going outdoors, to do nothing in particular when the wind is howling and the rain pelt.

The six-year-old is as fussy about food as a millionaire with an ulcer. The best is not nearly good enough for him. Of course he always settles in the end for a peanut butter and jelly sandwich but not before turning up his nose at many suggestions which would tax the resources of the best restaurant in Paris.

His table manners, on the other hand, would shame a backward Zulu. He slurps. He dribbles. He has to go to the bathroom and always he babbles. The word has not been invented that the six-year-old doesn't think of when you have company for dinner.

You can't get him dressed in time for school without brute force. Once he's been to school, the combined resources of the FBI and the Russian secret police couldn't pry out of him what he learned there—if anything. Except songs the other kids taught him.

Such as:

"I like chocolate."

"It's full of TNT."

"Mama puts it in my milk."

"To try to poison me."

So you're willing to write him off as a bad investment. You're thinking the Romans weren't so depraved, at that, when they abandoned some children on exposed hillsides. And then:

You're reading him Bible stories one night. You get to the part about Abraham. He guesses it's Abraham Lincoln. You explain that no, Lincoln was named after a man in the Bible and so were lots of other people.

"Were you?" he wants to know.

"Mmm-m, no," you say.

"Are you sure?" he asks. "Isn't there something in the Bible that begins, 'Our Father...?'"

So you decide to keep the little stinker after all.

O'Neill Vetoes Act To Up County Fees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—The Ohio Recorder's Assn. is the only one of four groups of county officials meeting here to officially comment on Gov. C. William O'Neill's veto of an act to increase fees for county offices.

Mrs. Miriam Yeazell, Clark County recorder and chairman of the association's Legislative Committee, reported Thursday on the governor's action.

She did not criticize the veto, but said: "We thought everything was under control," and that "no one dreamed of a veto."

However, members of the associations admitted there was "considerable" unofficial criticism as they talked to each other outside the meeting rooms.

The newly formed past president's group of the recorders elected Earl R. Hogan, of Hamilton president and Mrs. Yeazell secretary.

William Marsh of Ross County was elected president of the County Auditors' Assn. Earl Lautenschlager of Wayne County was named vice president; Forrest Hanson of Madison County, re-elected treasurer, and Donald R. Kinsey of Tuscarawas County, re-elected secretary.

Other associations meeting at the Deshler Hilton Hotel are the Ohio Clerk of Courts Assn. and the Ohio Sealers Assn. Both of these and the recorders hold elections today.

2 PEDESTRIANS KILLED

AKRON, Ohio (U)—Separate accidents Thursday night killed two elderly pedestrians. Paul Prack Sr., 62, was killed when struck by a car being pushed by another vehicle on Firestone Parkway. Mrs. Flossie E. Schultz, 61, was killed as she crossed East Market Street.

Program Is Held By Perry Grangers

Perry Grange held its regular meeting Wednesday night when a program and a shower were featured. The kitchen shower was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zentbauer.

The lecturer, Mrs. Chris Perrott, was in charge of the program. She read a message from state lecturer Bruce Tom. A letter was received recently from Mr. Tom congratulating last year's lecturer, Mrs. Perry Hilliard Sr., on winning second place in the state for the booster night program.

Biographies of seven grange founders were read by Mrs. Virgil Whinnery, Mrs. George Hawkins, Mrs. Ray McCartney and Mrs. Lewis Duke.

Mrs. Perrott made a tape recording when the grange members sang "We Three Kings of Orient Are."

During the business session, members voted to purchase a tuberculosis bond, Carl Spender and Mrs. E. S. Huffman were appointed to the community service committee. Master Elden Groves presided.

The annual Christmas party is scheduled for Dec. 18.

Castle Smith Attends Trade Council Session

Castle Smith, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Thursday attended a preliminary meeting in Youngstown regarding the formulation of a World Trade Council for the promotion of industry in this area.

Smith also met with the Youngstown Association of Credit Men who plan to devote their efforts to the development of the Lake-to-River-Freeway by sponsoring a greater effort in the World Trade Council from this area.

On December 16, a follow-up organizational meeting will be held in an effort to form a permanent Lake Erie - Ohio River Highway Association.
